In his inaugural address, the Honorable Minister emphasized the importance of human rights as being an integral part of the plan of action of disaster risk reduction (DRR); especially in the context of Sri Lanka, where human-made disasters in the shape of conflict add to the natural disasters, and set back the development curve of the country. The Honorable Minister highlighted the huge impact of the 2004 Indian Ocean tsunami, which brought consensus within the Government and all stakeholders in Sri Lanka to work together to prevent, mitigate and respond better to the multitude of natural and man made disasters, leading to a series of major initiatives in the last three years. He emphasized the adopted approach of decentralization, multi stakeholder involvement and promoting a culture of volunteerism for effectively reducing risk. The Honorable Minister expressed great pride and satisfaction of the Government in co-hosting the RCC 7 meeting which provided a venue to learn more about similar initiatives on DRR from other countries of the region.
